BOHEMIA AND MORAVIA.

DR. MACKENZIE'S BOOK

Severely Criticized by the German Official Papers—Seizures Made in Book Stores.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Oct. 15.—Judge Thurman's letter of acceptance was given to the press last evening. The letter is as follows: COLUMBUS, Ohio, Oct. 12, 1888.

GENTLEMEN: In obedience to custom I send you this formal acceptance of my nomination for the office of Vice-President of the United States, made by the National Convention of the Democratic Party at St. Louis.

When you did me the honor to call upon me at Columbus, and officially notify me of my nomination, I expressed to you my sense of obligation to the Convention, and stated that, although I had not sought the nomination, I did not feel at liberty, under the circumstances, to decline it. I thought then, as I still think, that whatever I could properly do to promote the re-election of President Cleveland I ought to do. His administration has been marked by such integrity, good feeling, and unflinching courage, and patriotism that a just appreciation of these high qualities seems to call for his re-election.

I am also strongly impressed with the belief that his re-election would powerfully tend to strengthen the feeling of fraternity among the American people that is so essential to their welfare, peace, and happiness, and to the perpetuity of the Union and of our free institutions.

I approve the platform of the St. Louis Convention. I cannot too strongly express my dissent from the heretical teachings of the monopolists that the welfare of a people can be promoted by a system of exorbitant taxation far in excess of the wants of the Government. The idea that a people can be enriched by heavy and unnecessary taxation, that a man's condition can be improved by taxing him on all he wears, on all his tools and implements of industry, is an obvious absurdity.

Treasury with its idle surplus, for which the Government has no legitimate use, and to thereby deprive the people of currency needed for their business and daily wants, and to create a powerful and dangerous stimulus to extravagance and corruption in the expenditure of the Government, seems to me to be a policy at variance with every sound principle of government and of political economy.

The necessity of reducing taxation to prevent such an accumulation of surplus revenue and the consequent depletion of the circulating medium is so apparent that no party dares to deny it, but when we come to consider the modes by which the reduction may be made we find a wide antagonism between our party and the monopolists.

Leaders of our political opponents. We seek to reduce taxes upon the necessities of life; our opponents seek to increase them. We say give to the masses of the people cheap and good clothing, cheap blankets, cheap tools and cheap lumber. The monopolists, by their platform and their leaders in the Senate, by their proposed bill, say increase the taxes on clothing and blankets and thereby increase their cost, maintain a high duty on the tools of the farmer and mechanic and upon the lumber which they need for the construction of their modest dwellings, shops and barns, and therefore prevent their obtaining these necessities at reasonable prices.

Can any sensible man doubt as to where he should stand in this controversy? Can any well-informed man be deceived by the pretence that a system so unreasonably and unjust is for the benefit of laboring men?

Much is said about competition of American laborers with the pauper labor of Europe, but does not every man who looks around himself and know that an immense majority of the laborers in America are not engaged in what are called the protected industries? And as to those who are employed in such industries, is it not undeniable that the duties proposed by the Democratic measure called for by their platform and their leaders in the Senate, by their proposed bill, say increase the taxes on clothing and blankets and thereby increase their cost, maintain a high duty on the tools of the farmer and mechanic and upon the lumber which they need for the construction of their modest dwellings, shops and barns, and therefore prevent their obtaining these necessities at reasonable prices.

Does not every well informed man know that the increase in price of home manufactures produced by a high tariff does not go into the pockets of laboring men, but only tends to swell the price of others?

It seems to me that if the policy of the Democratic party is plainly presented all must understand that we seek to make the cost of living less, and at the same time to increase the share of the laboring man in the product of natural productivity and growth.

I am very respectfully, your obedient servant.

Minerals in Delaware County.

According to a report of a "mining engineer" the people of Delaware County are foolish to bother with butter and milk.

Adriel Deyo says in the Deposit Courier: "I have been prospecting for minerals on my farm one mile north of Trout Creek valley. Have drilled down 30 feet soap stone, copper, silver, gold in milk quartz, crystal quartz, and yellow quartz, with two colors of mineral paint—a dark drab and a dark red. The red is 30 feet thick and the drab 20 feet."

A Bad Mistake to Make.

A family at Warwick recently used fly powder for mustard. On finding out their mistake a doctor was sent for. As much time had elapsed before the doctor arrived he told the "sufferers" that as they were not already dead their chance for surviving was good. He administered some simple remedies and no harm resulted to the family.

WHEN THE FAMILY PHYSICIAN.
Cannot be found, then what? While in all serious cases we very properly rely upon the skill of a physician, yet lesser complaints constantly arise, for which a trustworthy household remedy is the dictate of common sense, safety and economy. How fully Dr. David Kennedy's Cherry Balsam fills this need is proved by appreciative and grateful letters he daily receives from many and various sources. And, indeed, it more than makes good its reputation, for coughs, colds and other throat and lung difficulties. It surpasses all similar preparations, and at once all the more distressing symptoms, producing easy and free expectoration, and promoting quiet and rest. When used in conjunction with Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy for blood and digestive organs, other medicines will seldom be needed.

Catarrh is in the blood. No cure for this loathsome and dangerous disease is possible until the poison is thoroughly eradicated from the system. For this purpose Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the best and most economical medicine. Price $1. Six bottles, $5. Worth $3 a bottle.

It would be a blessing to our race where these pills cannot now be found for sale is well, it's difficult to locate."

To all the vaults of the Treasury with an idle surplus, for which the Government has no legitimate use, and to thereby drive the people of currency rendered by the Government, and to create a powerful and dangerous stimulus to extravagance and corruption in the expenditures of the Government, seems to me to be a policy of government and of political economy.

The necessity of reducing taxation to prevent such an accumulation of surplus revenue and the consequent depletion of the circulating medium is apparent to all who do not wish to deny it, but when we come to consider the modes by which the reduction may be made we find a wide antagonism between our party and the monopolistic leaders of our political opponents. We seek to reduce taxes upon the necessities of life; our opponents seek to increase them. We say give to the masses of the people cheap and good clothing, cheap blankets, cheap tools and cheap lumber. The Republicans, by their platform and their leaders in the Senate, by their proposed bill, say increase the taxes on clothing and blankets and thereby increase their cost, maintain a high duty on the tools of the farmer and the mechanic and upon the lumber which they need for the construction of their modest dwellings, shops and barns, and therefore prevent their obtaining these necessities at reasonable prices.

Can any sensible man doubt as to where he should stand in this controversy? Can any well-informed man be deceived by the false pretence that a system so unreasonable and unjust for the masses of the people is a system of reducing taxes upon the necessities of life? Much is said about competition of American laborers with the pauper labor of Europe, but does not every man who looks around him see and know that an immense majority of the laborers in America are not engaged in the work which is called the protected industries? And as to those who are employed in such industries, is it not undeniable that the duties proposed by the Democratic measure called the Mills bill far exceed the difference between American and European wages, and that therefore, if it were admitted that our workmen can be protected by tariffs against cheaper labor they would be fully protected, and more than protected, by that bill?

Does not every well informed man know that the increase in price of home manufactures produced by a high tariff does not go into the pockets of the laborer, but only tends to swell the profits of others?

It seems to me that if the policy of the Democratic party is plainly presented all men, and not only men, will make the cost of living less, and at the same time to increase the share of the laboring man in the benefits of national prosperity and growth.

I am very respectfully, your obedient servant.

Minerals in Delaware County.

According to a report of a "mining engineer" the people of Delaware County are foolish to bother with butter and milk.

Adriel Deyo says in the Deposit Courier: "I have been prospecting for minerals on my farm one mile north of Trout Creek village. Have drilled down 100 feet with the following results: Found 20 feet soapstone, copper, silver, gold in milk quartz, and silver and yellow quartz, with two colors of mineral paint—a dark drab and a dark red. The red is 30 feet thick and the drab 20 feet."

A Bad Mistake to Make.

A family at Warwick recently used fly powder for mustard. On finding out their mistake a doctor was sent for. As much time had elapsed before the doctor arrived he told the "sufferers" that as they were not to-day believe their chance for surviving was good. He administered some simple remedies and no harm resulted to the family.

AGAINST DAVID B. HILL.

I authorize you to enroll my name among those in favor of Electoral Reform, and of the passage of the next Legislature, the so-called Saxton Bill, which was passed by the last Legislature, and voted by Governor Hill.

Name _____ Address _____

It is stated that the slips are being extensively signed by Democrats. The principal reason given for the opposition to Mr. Hill is that he vetoed the High License bill, that he was mixed up in the aqueduct scandal; that he is on record as being opposed to the best interests of the Knights of Labor—the number about 1,300 hereabout—and to the cause of electoral reform.

The reverend gentleman said that the ring was designed to be worn on the hand that had performed so many kind acts of charity and the spectacles to cover the eyes that had watched so faithfully the spiritual welfare of the congregation for so many years.

In replying Mr. Hirsch said that the testimonials were a surprise to him, and that although the mission he had fulfilled for the Synagogue has been a work of love and not for presents, he would ever cherish the deep regard the members of the congregation held for him.

One Kind of Satisfaction.

It is a great satisfaction to firms engaged in the brick business here to learn, through Democratic newspapers, that the brick business of 1888 has exceeded that of 1887. For this statement was made the brick manufacturers here a few dollars less per thousand than during 1887, that the business was dull and that the yards shut down several weeks earlier than in 1887.

FIGHT TO THE VERY DEATH.

AN EXCITING ADVENTURE IN A CAVE IN THE CATSKILLS.

The Tussle That Hunter Jacob Deputy Had With a Big Bear in the Stony Cove Yesterday—Moralizing and a Vainly Debut.

Such an occurrence happens but rarely.—Pluto.

There are a greater number of bears in the Catskill Mountains this fall than in any previous year since Rip Van Winkle's laird has become a breathing place in summer for thousands of jaded New-Yorkers.

The average bear is not as ferocious as it has been painted, and it is more apt to turn tail and hobble away than to fight a hunter whom it happens to run foul of in the woods. It is when a bear gets cornered and there is no avenue of escape at hand that it will fight desperately even to the very death.

Jacob Deputy, a grizzly old nimir who has bagged all sorts of game in the Esopus and Shandaken Valleys and along the Stony and Plateau Clives for nigh on to 20 years, had an adventure with a cornered bear yesterday that he will remember as long as he lives. And it occurred in this wise:

Deputy contends that it isn't just the thing to go hunting for a man who is having to receive Sunday School instruction in his youth and being more or less religiously inclined in these, his latter days. Nevertheless, when the fitful rain storm of the past two days cleared off yesterday morning and the gorgeously colored leaves glistened in the mellow sunshine, causing all nature to smile, Deputy could not resist the temptation to shoulder his gun and take a shot or two at partridges, which by the peculiar shades they exuded showed they were pretty thick in the woods. He did not find the great rifle in the Stony Cove. After he had bagged a number of plump birds he started for home and as he tramped along, the sky again became leaden in color and later on a pelting rain began falling. Deputy sought shelter in one of the numerous caves in the Cove, where ice can be found even in the dog days of August and wherein nary a streak of Old Sol's rays ever penetrate.

After considerable effort the hunter succeeded in getting on the roof of the cave, but he had to wait long before he gathered enough dry leaves that served as a tinder for the chiseling blaze that followed from crackling, hissing, smoky wet twigs. While the rain pattered outside the old man took "comfort" by taking up the nonsensical questions he had been asked by presumably level-headed men from the Metropolis during the past summer. It was an open question in his mind which was the funnier—the questions they asked or the answers he had given them. They started out hunting. On the latter he Deputy opined that the antics of a cat in a strange garb wasn't a circumstance to some of the grotesque performances with shot guns that he had witnessed.

Meanwhile the cave steadily filled with smoke, emitted from the wet brush that was used from time to time to replenish the fire.

When Deputy had about concluded that the storm would continue all day and break away at sunrise to-day he heard a queer kind of "crowing" sound, apparently coming from the cave. Quick as a flash the hunter jumped to his feet, shot-gun in hand and eyes and ears wide open. Soon he heard an ominous growl, and he summed up the situation in his mind by saying: "A bear, and an ugly one."

By this time the smoke was pretty thick in the cave, the wind being from a quarter that prevented its egress to any great extent. The "bear" evidently decided that in preference to being suffocated to death he would run the gambit of the hunter and he fired. Deputy made up his mind he was going to take his hide back home along with the partridges. When the bear made a rush for the opening Deputy fired and the shot took effect in its hind quarters, yet not discomfiting the shaggy brute from making a desperate fight a second or two later. The first shot was followed by a second charge, and that, of course, exhausted the hunter's resources as far as the use of powder and shot with the gun was available in the premises. There was no time to reload, in fact there was just time enough for Deputy to grasp the warm barrels of the weapon and to swing it around his head in club fashion and then to hit the brute, which had advanced with gleaming eyes in full tilt toward him, resuming his charge over the head. Bruin staggered for a minute, and as the hunter swung his gun again, instead of hitting the bear he crashed it against a projecting ledge of rocks, which had been obscured by the dense smoke, and the butt went flying one day and the head another.

To say that the situation of Deputy at this juncture was a perilous one inadequately describes it. The bear was bleeding copiously from the first discharge of the gun and it fought for promotion runs, through a thicket of brush, toward the entrance of the cave. The slave boy in Egypt became the honored conqueror in Canaan being promoted step by step because he was faithful in all that he did. The other lesson is: The best way to secure a happy and peaceful death is to live a true and trusting life.

FOURTY HOURS' DEVOTION.

The celebration of the Forty Hours' Devotion was begun in St. Peter's German Catholic Church, Rondout, yesterday morning.

The Rev. Dr. Edward Hiepels, of the Albany Diocese, acting as Deacon; the Rev. J. Niebenhaus, Celebrant, and the Rev. M. Kuehnlen, Sub-Deacon. After High Mass followed the Blessed Sacrament, in which the Blessed Sacrament was consecrated in the Church. The children of the Sunday School—the girls dressed in white—were in the procession. They carried lighted wax candles. In the evening there were devotional exercises to the Blessed Sacrament. A large number of the faithful partook of communion yesterday and to-day. It is understood that a solemn termination of the Forty Hours' Devotion will take place on Tuesday evening. The attendance at the services has been large.

THE REV. J. STEINHAUSER RESIGNS.

At a meeting of the congregation of the Spring-Street Lutheran Church, Rondout, yesterday afternoon, the members were surprised when the Pastor, the Rev. J. Steinhauser, announced his resignation, to take effect on December 1. Mr. Steinhauser goes to Rochester, where he will assume the Diocese of the Wagner Memorial College.

Mr. Steinhauser has been Pastor of the Spring-Street Church over ten years, and during that time the pleasant relations have existed between preacher and people. The Church has increased in membership under his ministrations, and a large amount of the debt wiped out by the announcement of his departure has caused expressions of sorrow and regret not alone by members of his congregation, but by people of other denominations.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION.

The Twenty-Seventh Annual Convention and Institute of the Ulster County Sunday School Association, to be held at Highland, Ulster County, beginning to-morrow forenoon at 10 o'clock, bids fair to be largely attended and interesting.

OTHER CHURCH NEWS.

God takes particular care of the good.—Menander.

The attendance at churches in this City yesterday, as a rule, was small.

A literary and musical entertainment will be given in St. James M. E. Church, Wednesday evening.

Repairs amounting to $750 have recently been made to the M. E. Church at Hancock, Delaware County.

An instance of loyal devotion to a Church is that of Mrs. B. M. Coon, who has been the organist of the choir of the Congregational Church, since the death of her husband, the late Mr. B. M. Coon, who was a member of the church.

The Casualty Record.

It is good to see in the misfortunes of others that we should avoid.—Aesop.

Fenton Cuddy, of Hudson, injured by a fall in a brewery there, a few days ago, will die.

TALKING TO YOUNG MEN.

THE REV. A. K. FULLER GIVES SOME EXCELLENT ADVICE.

It is Profitable to Study Biography—Some of the Heroes Mentioned in the Bible—Much Depends Upon a Right Start—Two Lessons.

I regard the greatest praise of wisdom to be that man should be self-dependent, and have no doubts as to the proper method of living well or ill.—Cicero.

The Rev. A. K. Fuller, Pastor of the Rondout Baptist Church, talked to young men in the rooms of the Rondout Young Men's Christian Association, Sunday afternoon. A synopsis of what he said follows:

"I want first to commend the study of biography. There is no more interesting or profitable line of reading for young people. If our boys and girls would read novels less and biography more, it would be far better for them morally and intellectually. In knowing how others have struggled and achieved we are helped. Do not neglect the biographies of the Bible. The noblest characters that ever lived are here portrayed, sketched by the hand of Inspiration. We find God's own estimate of His work. He condemns what He approves. Do you think these biographies are too old, these lives too far removed from our time? A book may make a life, in the same sense, never. IN THE FIELD OF POLITICS.

WHAT HAS BEEN DONE AND WHAT WILL BE DONE SOON.

Democrats Who Will Not Vote for David B. Hill—Republican Meetings to be Held in Ulster County This Week—Comment, Etc.

David B. Hill is unfit to be Governor of New York, and his election would be a disgrace—Vote of Public Opinion.

REPUBLICAN MEETINGS AND PARADES. There will be a large Republican meeting, in Hudson, to-night, to welcome Warner Miller.

Colonel Johnson L. DePyster, of Tivoli, has been nominated for Member of Assembly by the Republicans.

A Republican mass meeting will be held at Red Hook, on Friday evening. Colonel Cruger will be one of the speakers.

Rondout sailors will do a thriving business to-morrow evening, when their patron and friend, David B. Hill, comes to town.

The Miller Protection Club, of Hudson, will carry red, white and blue umbrellas in the Republican parade this evening.

An attempt is being made to induce all the Democratic clubs in Ulster County to come to this City, to-morrow evening, to be reviewed by Governor Hill.

To-morrow is the first day of registration in this City. Every friend of protection to the industries of America should see that his name is registered.

General W. T. Sherman writes that the display of the Rebel flag in the late Pickett celebration at Richmond, was a insult to the Nation. The General is correct.

The members of the Republican Club, of St. Stephen's College, Annandale, are making arrangements to serenade Hon. Levi P. Morton. The Democrats are in the minority.

The members of the St. Remy Republican Gun Squad will visit South Rondout to-night. On Wednesday night they go to Whitefoot, and on Thursday night to Hon. Levi P. Morton's residence at Ellerslie.

The parade of Rinecliff Republican clubs and gun squads, and similar organizations of this City, to the residence of Hon. Levi P. Morton, at Ellerslie, on Thursday night, promises to be a noteworthy political event.

The following Republican meetings will be held this week: At Mattitohocks, Tuesday evening, October 16, speakers, Daniel B. Deyo, Ashley W. Cooper; at Ulsterville, Tuesday evening, October 16, speakers, George H. Sharpe, E. B. Walker, Jr.; at Stone Ridge, Friday evening, October 19, speakers, C. P. Carter, E. B. Walker, Jr.; at Pine Hill, Friday evening, October 19, speaker, George H. Sharpe; at Napanoch, Friday evening, October 19, speaker, G. D. B. Hasbrouck.

AGAINST DAVID B. HILL. Independents and Democrats heretofore have received copies of the following slips:

I authorize you to enroll my name among those in favor of Electoral Reform, and of the passage by the next Legislature of the so-called Saxon Bill, which was passed by the last Legislature, and vetoed by Governor Hill.

Name _____ Address _____

It is stated that the slips are being extensively signed by Democrats. The principal reasons given for the opposition to Mr. Hill are that he vetoed the High License bill; that he was mixed up in the squelched scandal, and that he is on record as being opposed to the best interests of the Knights of Labor—they number about 1,300 heretofore—and to the cause of electoral reform.

REPUBLICAN CLUBS. A Harrison and Morton Club and Gun Squad has been formed at Rifton, with a membership of 50. The officers are as follows:

S. Schomaker, Captain; J. Hooper, First Lieutenant; E. Decker, Second Lieutenant; J. E. Ryson, Sergeant; A. K. Ray, Secretary and Treasurer; E. Schomaker, Captain of Gun.

Fratcher, George W. Myer, Edmund W. Merchan, L. B. Stanton, William M. Fitch, Secretary, George H. Morgan, Treasurer.

REPUBLICAN CITY COMMITTEE. The members of the Kingston City Republican Committee held a meeting in Rondout on Saturday afternoon. Permanent organization was effected. Officers were elected as follows:

Chairman, George M. Zeller; Secretary, James S. Murphy; Treasurer, J. W. Van Tassel; Fiskhill, Sheriff; T. A. Hoffman, Red Hook, County Clerk; I. W. Sherrill, Poughkeepsie, County Treasurer; M. H. Hecanane, Rinecliff, District Attorney.

AGAIN POSTPONED. The Republican meeting at Saugerties, postponed from last Friday until to-night, has again been postponed, this time until Wednesday night.

Gifts to L. Hirsch. Last night the members of the Congregation Anshe Chesed, Rondout, through the Rev. W. Burger, presented to Isaac Hirsch, a gold ring and a pair of gold spectacles.

The reverend gentleman said that the ring was designed to be worn on the hand that performed so many kind acts of charity and the spectacles to cover the eyes that had watched so faithfully over the spiritual welfare of the congregation for so many years.

In replying Mr. Hirsch said that the testimonials were a surprise to him, and that although the mission he had fulfilled for the Synagogue has been one of love and not for presents, he would ever cherish the devotion of the members of the congregation held in him.

One Kind of Satisfaction. It is a great satisfaction to firms engaged in the brick business here to learn, through Democratic newspapers, that the brick business of 1888 has exceeded that of 1887.

Before this statement was made the brick manufacturers along the Hudson believed the brick sold this year for several dollars less per thousand than during 1887, that the business was dull and that the yards shut down several weeks earlier than in 1887.

FIGHT TO THE VERY DEATH.

AN EXCITING ADVENTURE IN A CAVE IN THE CATSKILLS.

The Tussock Hunter Jack Deputay Had With a Big Bear in the Stony Caves Yesterday—Moralizing and a Yards Delusion.

Such an occurrence happens but rarely—Pinto.

There are a greater number of bears in the Catskill Mountains this fall than in any previous year since Rip Van Winkle's land has become a breathing place in summer for thousands of jaded New-Yorkers.

The average bear is not as ferocious as it has been painted, and it is more apt to turn tail and hobble away than to fight a hunter who it happens to run foul of in the woods. It is when a bear gets cornered and there is no avenue of escape at hand that it will fight desperately even to the very death.

Jacob Deputay, a grizzly old ninnor who has bagged all sorts of game in the Esopus and Shandaken Valleys and along the Stony and Plattekill Claves for nigh on to 20 years, had an adventure with a cornered bear yesterday that he will remember as long as he lives.

Deputay contends that it isn't just the thing to go hunting on a Sunday, he has received Sunday School instruction in his youth and being more or less religiously inclined in these, his latter days. Nevertheless, when the first rain storm of the fall two days cleared off yesterday morning and the gorgeously colored leaves glistened in the mellow sunshine, causing all nature to smile, Deputay could not resist the temptation to shoulder his gun and take a shot or two at partridges, which by the peevish sounds they uttered showed they were just a trifle in a clump of woods near the great declivity in the Stony Caves. After he had bagged a number of plump birds he started for home and as he tramped along, the sun shone brightly and the leaves were a plying rain before him. Deputay sought shelter in one of the numerous caves in the Stony Caves, where he can be found even in the dog days of August and wherein many a streak of Old Sol's rays ever penetrate.

After considerable effort he succeeded in getting into the cave and he was not long before he had gathered enough dry leaves that served as a tinder for the cheerful blaze that followed from crackling, sizzling, smoky wet twigs. While the rain pattered outside the old man took comfort in his battle with the elements, and he was not long before he had gathered enough dry leaves that served as a tinder for the cheerful blaze that followed from crackling, sizzling, smoky wet twigs.

TALKING TO YOUNG MEN.

THE REV. A. K. FULLER GIVES SOME EXCELLENT ADVICE.

It is Profitable to Study Biography—Some Of the Heroes Mentioned in the Bible—Much Depends Upon a Right Start—Two Lessons.

I regard the greatest praise of wisdom to be that man should be self-dependent. And he has no doubts as to the proper method of living well or ill—Cicero.

The Rev. A. K. Fuller, Pastor of the Rondout Baptist Church, talked to young men in the rooms of the Rondout Young Men's Christian Association, Sunday afternoon. A synopsis of what he said follows:

"I want first to commend the study of biography. There is no more interesting or profitable line of reading for young people. If our boys and girls would read novels less and biography more, it would be far better for them morally and intellectually. In knowing how others have struggled and achieved we are helped. Do not neglect the study of the Bible. The noblest characters that ever lived are here portrayed, sketched by the hand of inspiration. Here we find God's own estimate of lives, what He condemns and what He approves. Do you think these biographies are too old, these lives too remote from our time? A look may become old, a life, in the same sense, never. Principles, habits, beliefs which entered into to make a true and noble life 4,000 years ago are essentially the same that must enter into to make a true and noble life to-day. All kinds of characters are depicted. In the Bible—the good and the bad, the wise man and the fool. Here are the biographies of warriors, poets, prophets, authors, philosophers, preachers, missionaries, noble women, devout nuns; also thieves, backsliders, betrayers, liars, traitors, great faith and those without faith, and here is the fourfold history of that purest, wisest, noblest, greatest of all men, the man Jesus Christ. Surely he who acquaints himself with the biographies of Scripture knows human life."

"I want you to think me a student of one of the Bible heroes, the man Joshua, who was raised up of God to succeed Moses, as leader of Israel. Joshua was a noble character, a great man, but not so great as Moses. He was pre-eminently a warrior. His symbol was not the rod but the spear, which was always in his hand or stuck in his back. At this time Israel needed a warrior to lead them. They were about to enter upon the period of conquest. Moses had given them laws and organization. They needed now a general, a leader in battle, a soldier. God found him, a man brave and fearless, noted especially for that soldierly virtue, courage. He was not afraid to be found with the minority when the majority was on the side of God. Have we this courage? Joshua's life was a life of battle. He never did anything wrong, but that record which has come down to us is a blameless one. Not a word is said against him. He is one of the few men, even of the Bible, of which this can be said. It cannot be said of Jacob, David, the man after God's own heart, Samuel, Solomon. We speak of Solomon the wise, but we must also say Solomon the fool. If we would speak frankly of several things he did. It is a great thing to have a stainless record. In this respect Joshua is an example. What was the secret of his success? We find first that he was well born. There was good blood in him. He was a descendant of Joseph, and belonged to one of the best families of the tribe of Ephraim."

"Much depends upon a right start, upon being well born. The noblest blood is handed down from generation to generation. Character of physical and intellectual strength, starts ahead in the race of life. Again, Joshua had a blessed companionship. He was for years the intimate friend and servant of the illustrious Moses. The counsel of the great leader in spirit and wisdom of that great leader. This was the way God took in preparing him to succeed Moses. How much depends upon companionship! Young people, have no companions if you can't have good ones. Keep your company. Companionship with good men rather than wicked men. The impulse in speech, those who make light of religion and sacred things, they who have low and unworthy views of life, avoid. Have no intimate relations with them. They will only lead you down. Joshua also believed what God told him, and did just as God commanded. His entire history showed that his faith was strong, his obedience exact. When God said 'Arise, and go over this Jordan,' he did not say 'How, Lord?' there is no time to ask, and we have no boots, the river is full, overtopping its banks. He just did as God told him and when the host reached the bank of the river, behold, a way was opened. God with his own hand held the water so that it set back up the river 30 miles below the channel was free for the people to pass. How much we owe to not having faith and by not obeying God."

"Two lessons come from Joshua's life. The road to promotion runs through faithfulness. The slave boy in Egypt became the honored conqueror in Canaan because he followed step by step because he was faithful in all that he did. The other lesson is: The best way to secure a happy and peaceful death is to live a true and trusting life."

FOURTY HOURS' DEVOTION. The celebration of the Forty Hours' Devotion was begun in St. Peter's German Catholic Church, Rondout, yesterday morning.

Dr. Edward Hipelius, of the Albany Medical College, and the Rev. J. K. Nienhausen, Deacon, and the Rev. J. K. Nienhausen, Sub-Deacon. After High Mass this was a solemn procession, in which the Blessed Sacrament was carried through the streets. The children of the Sunday School were the first to follow in the procession. They carried lighted wax candles. In the evening there were devotional exercises to the Blessed Sacrament. A large number of the faithful partook of communion yesterday and to-day. It is understood that a solemn termination of the Forty Hours' Devotion will take place on Tuesday evening. The attendance at the services has been large.

THE REV. J. STEINHAUSER RESIGNS. At a meeting of the congregation of the Spring-Street Lutheran Church, Rondout, yesterday afternoon, the members were surprised when the Pastor, the Rev. J. Steinhauser, announced his resignation, to take effect on December 1. The Rev. J. Steinhauser has been Pastor of the Spring-Street Church over ten years, and during that time the pleasant relations have existed between the pastor and people. The church has increased in membership under his ministrations, and a large amount of the debt wiped out. The announcement of his departure has caused expressions of sorrow and regret, not alone by members of his congregation, but by people of other denominations.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION. The Twenty-Seventh Annual Convention and Institute of the Ulster County Sunday School Association, held at the Hotel Highland, Ulster County, beginning to-morrow forenoon at 10 o'clock, bids fair to be largely attended and interesting.

OTHER CHURCH NEWS. God takes particular care of the good—Memoranda. The attendance at churches in this City yesterday, as a rule, was small.

A literary and musical entertainment will be given in St. James M. E. Church, Wednesday evening.

Repairs amounting to $750 have recently been made to the M. E. Church at Hancock, Delaware County.

An instance of loyal devotion to a Church is that of Mrs. J. C. Cook, who has been the organist and leader of the choir of the Congregational Church, Saugerties, for over 30 years, with the same close attention to the Sunday School.

The Cemetery Record. It is good to see in the misfortune of others that we should avoid—Publius Syrus. Fenton Cuddy, of Hudson, injured by a fall in a brewery there, a few days ago, will die.
